Message from the Founder

By definition, technology is constantly changing and evolving. We are obsessed with thinking of ways to apply newer and better technology to solve existing problems, from improving productivity and efficiency in some industries to completely disrupting others. At times, it can actually be quite difficult to fully comprehend the current information technology landscape. Trends emerge and often enjoy a relatively short life before they are displaced by the next significant IT challenge or innovation. As a result, it is really difficult to create a technology product that is capable of delivering value to customers over the long term. It requires both a laser sharp focus on what is vitally important today, as well as a good understanding of where the industry is headed and where the future opportunities exist.

Over the past decade DNN has been able to build a solid reputation as a dependable platform for building enterprise applications and websites. It is a platform that has undergone many significant evolutions in its lifetime but has always been able to successfully adapt because it has stayed true to its core strengths - a loosely coupled multi-tenant architecture that focuses on flexibility and extensibility. This ability to adapt to any scenario has allowed DNN to remain highly valuable to its users and customers over time. It has also allowed it to utilize nearly every major innovation that has emerged in the web development and design realm. With this in mind, we are looking towards the future for areas of opportunity where we can allow our customers to continue to capitalize on their investments in DNN and be successful.

A Buyer's Guide to Online Communities

Date: Tuesday, July 22, 2014 | 9:00 - 10:00am PDT

According to a recent research report from DNN, 35% of surveyed marketers have deployed an online community, 42% by the end of 2014 and another 13% by the end of 2015. With the increasing demand for online communities, marketers like you will need to make buying decisions to select the ideal online community solution. Anticipating this strong interest, DNN partnered with online community expert Richard Millington to help you determine how to select the right platform.

Before and After Speed Testing with a DNN 7.3 Upgrade

As the focus of 7.3 was making your site run faster, I thought it would be a good idea to test a site that started out as a DNN 3 site and has been upgraded over many years, it's the kind of real-world, messy background DNN site that many people own and maintain.
