ADVENT MEDIA, INC.

CASE STUDY

CLIENT: Ohio Catholic School Accrediting Association (OCSAA)

CLIENT NEED:

We had worked with OCSAA in the past, building video content and an informational DNN Website. Unfortunately, at a board member's insistence, when it came time to expand the site to collect accreditation data from all 300 schools in the state of Ohio, they went with another firm that created an unwieldy Web portal that everyone hated. After 3 years of putting up with that, the director called us and commissioned Advent to create a workable solution.

ADVENT MEDIA SOLUTION:

Because data handling and user management were critical, we selected Evoq Content for this next generation data collection system. Evoq provides important user management features such as the ability for the director to impersonate a user to fix malformed data input. The site also uses Xmod Pro, to provide a front-end system that smoothly handles more than 30,000 highly confidential records each year and provides schools an intuitive interface for data input. Evoq's file management system also gives schools a convenient way to download templates and upload narrative reports for the director to forward to the State Department of Education to facilitate their "Continuous Improvement" efforts.

As part of our comprehensive service, we produced the whiteboard-animation videos that serve as public information and accreditation systems training.
